The INGROW project supports migrant and minority enterprise founders to overcome challenges in starting and growing their businesses.

Leveling the playing field

Dear readers,

INGROW acknowledges the undeniable innovation potential of start-ups founded by people from migrant or ethnic minority backgrounds, and their potential impact on various areas of economic, social, and cultural life in Europe. However, these founders still face significant challenges, structural barriers, and intercultural hurdles, which result in missed opportunities and limited access to financing, growth, and success.

To address these issues, the INGROW project will create free learning resources and increase the capacities of adult educators across Europe to support these founders. It provides modular, flexible, and innovative learning and teaching materials that are equipped with competence packages to enable adult educators to provide relevant, accessible, gender and culture-sensitive, state-of-the-art learning opportunities to migrant and ethnic minority enterprise founder
